Singaporean Annapurna Base Camp Overview

Discover the Singaporean Annapurna Base camp trek, which are unchanged villages with Massive peaks with locals. The Annapurna Himalaya is a massif with peaks ranging from 7,000 m to 8091m.

A section of this range forms a natural amphitheatre, ringed by such giants as Gangapurna, Glacier Dome, Annapurna Fang, and Holy Machhapuchhare. We ascend Poon Hill for a panoramic sunrise of the Annapurna and Dhaulagiri 7th highest peak in the world.

We trek through hillsides into Ghorepani and Tadapani before attaining the sanctuary entering deep and narrow valley we pass straight. We explore a day in this spectacular place before returning to Pokhara by taking a different route, Dhampus.

This is an alpine trek with moderate to difficult 800m to 1000m climbing per day and comfortable tea house accommodations run by locals. The trek starts in Nayapul and finishes in Dhampus Kande. Customers carry and walk in their own day packs, and big equipment luggage is carried by local porters.

Annapurna Sanctuary Trek is designed for Singaporean trekkers who love to trek the Himalayas and want to save time and money. Therefore, we designed a twelve-day trip from Singapore to Singapore with one-way domestic flights from Kathmandu to Pokhara and back to Kathmandu.
